Jewels Presented.

Under the most auspicious circumstances, veteran jewels were presented to twenty members of Weston Lodge No. 42, Knights of Pythias, at special service Sunday. Among the grand lodge officers present were Sam R. Nuzum, of Fairmont, supreme representative, who was heard in an address to the members and visitors assembled.

The jewels are accorded only to those members who have had twenty-five years of continuous service in the order, and the fact that the Weston lodge had twenty who were entitled to them shows that the organization has been a strong one for a number of years.

The ceremonies were held in the high school auditorium, which was nicely adapted for such a meeting. The lodge met at Castle Hall, marched to the high school building and had seats in front of the room. A men's meeting, being held in a Western church, adjourned out of respect for the lodgemen and those in attendance marched to the auditorium and were present at the ceremonies. After the meeting the worshippers returned to the church and their meeting proceeded.

Senator Samuel B. Montgomery, of Kingwood, grand keeper of records and seals, made the presentation speech, which was responded to by Editor R. A. Hall, who represented the entire twenty recipients of the jewels. Among the grand lodge officers present besides Messrs. Nuzum and Montgomery were Grand Chancellor O. W. West, of Auburn, and Grand Outer Guard W. B. Cutright, of Buckhannon.

For Bridal Couple.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Elliot entertained at their home on Elliott street Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl White, who were recently married. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Conway, Mr. and Mrs. Rumbold, Mr. and Mrs. Pixler and daughter, Pearl, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stout, Mrs. George Tate, Mrs. Bird Stout, Mrs. Harker, Mrs. Postlewait and daughter, Elaine, Frank Powell, Elzie King, Harry Kinard, Harold Ross, Paul Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl White, Charles Gaylord and the host and hostess.

Norwood Park Dance.

The second of a series of dances which are being given by the management of Norwood park to raise funds to pay for the new uniforms which have been purchased for the baseball team, will be given Thursday night in the dance hall at Norwood park. Dancing will be from 8 to 12 o'clock and good music is assured. The first dance given recently was poorly patronized and it is hoped that more will attend this one.

Married in Tennessee.

A recent number of the Chattanooga, Tenn., News contained the following of interest here: Miss Ruth Minter and John Edward Bachelor were married this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Minter, on Long street. Dr. W. F. Powell, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated, using the ring ceremony. Miss Carrie Jett sang "All For You," accompanied by Miss Robbie Jett on the piano.

Little Miss Adel Lowe Williamson was ring bearer. Miss Madge Leavitt played the wedding march. The bride was dressed in white and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Following the ceremony the bride changed her dress for a dark blue traveling suit, and they left for Clarksville, W. Va., the home of Mr. Bachelor.

CASES OPINED BY THE STATE APPEAL COURT

Highest Court of the State Gives Out Syllabi in a Few Cases.

CHARLESTON, April 24.—Syllabi in cases decided by the state supreme court recently are as follows:

Oil Company against Rummel.

A writ of prohibition was awarded on the application of the Wayland Oil and Gas Company and others against Rummel, judge, from Kanawha county; Lynch, judge. The syllabi is as follows:

"1. By 14, chapter 133, code, jurisdiction to award injunctive process is vested exclusively in the circuit court of the county wherein the act or proceeding sought to be enjoined is to be done, or is doing, or is apprehended, notwithstanding some of the defendants may reside in another county, except as provided in sections 6 and 9 of the same chapter and where a coordinate court has jurisdiction on grounds other than the award of such injunction.

"2. The award of an injunction by the common pleas court of Kanawha county, wherein some of the defendants reside, to enjoin acts and proceedings being committed and prosecuted or threatened in Lincoln county and affecting real estate therein, is void and of no effect; and prohibition lies to restrain further maintenance or cognizance of the suit.

"3. In such cases, no plea in abatement of the suit, or motion to dissolve the injunction, is essential before asking for the writ of prohibition.

"4. Nor will amendment of the injunction bill, by the insertion of a prayer for cancellation of the title claimed by defendants and adverse to

WOMAN SEES IT

Rheta Childs Dorr

It's a queer quandary in which England finds itself in regard to its women. Before the war the political leaders had a hard enough time fighting the militants, and keeping alive the fiction that their activities were hurting the cause.

The public generally is not aware of the real effect of the letter burning, window smashing, incendiary campaign on the politics of England. Although the Pankhurst policy alienated many individual members of parliament it was rapidly forcing the government to a point where some measure of surrender was inevitable. Because the Liberal party cannot get along without its women members, and large numbers of them were becoming inoculated with the virus of rebellion.

Shortly before the war suffragets came into possession of a private letter sent to local Liberal party leaders throughout the kingdom. In this letter directions for carrying on the campaign for the general elections were given. Concerning the Liberal women the directions were to use them as usual, but keep them busy at office work as much as possible and refrain from using them as speakers, "because they talk too much about suffrage."

Then came the war, and it looked for a time, a very short time, that suffrage was a retired issue. The hope was vain, for in the devotion and loyalty of the women of England, and in the magnificent way in which they stepped into the places left vacant by the fighting men, the government sees anew the inevitableness of woman suffrage.

The great objection to giving English women the vote was the fact that in the population of Great Britain there was an overplus of a million women. Not all of these would be enfranchised under an equal suffrage law, because they do not have universal suffrage in Great Britain. Only householders vote, and of course, the great majority of householders are men.

But the government feared lest the enfranchised women, in order to help working women to a vote, would form a coalition with the Independent Labor party and force a universal suffrage measure through parliament.

When the political leaders appeal to the world and cry out that they do not want to be ruled by their women, they get a certain amount of sympathy from other men. But England will find even that easier than being ruled by traitorous labor leaders. Women will never strike in any hour of peril and danger. They will never take advantage of a great national crisis to hold up the country for higher wages. They, the mothers of men, will never betray their children, as some of their children are ready to betray them now.

Yost Law Decision

There may be with some people an erroneous impression as to just what points of the Yost law are dealt with by the recent decision of the supreme court, of which so much notice has been taken by the public press, and therefore, the Telegram prints below the entire opinion, having heretofore given only the syllabi. The opinion is by Judge Poffenbarger, and would seem to be concurred in by all the other judges.

v.

Monongalia county. Dismissed.

No. 2969.

STATE

v.

JOSEPH J. JENKINS.

Monongalia county, reversed; remanded.

No. 2967.

Poffenbarger, judge.

1. A conviction by a justice of the peace on a warrant stating no facts constituting an offense is void.

2. An arrest made on a void search warrant is illegal, and a conviction of the person arrested thereon, in a justice's court, is illegal and void.

3. A search warrant not describing and designating some particular house, building or place for search is void.

4. A warrant charging the intoxicating liquors are being manufactured, sold, offered, exposed, kept or stored for sale or bartered, in a certain suit case, trunk or other container in the possession of a certain person in the roads, streets, alleys or room in the county, does not charge the person in whose possession the suit case, trunk or container is alleged to be, with manufacturing, selling, etc., nor with having, keeping or carrying such liquors unlawfully, nor with any other offense under the statute.

5. Chapter 13 of the acts of 1913, as amended by chapter 7 of the acts of 1915, does not make it unlawful for a citizen to carry or transport one-half of one gallon of intoxicating liquors, without a statutory label, or more with such label, on and along any public highway, to his home, for his personal use there.

6. A justice's docket entry of judgment in a criminal case need not recite findings of fact sufficient to constitute an offense, and a person under conviction by such a judgment will not be discharged on a writ of habeas corpus for lack of such recital; but such docket entries are only prima facie evidence of the jurisdictional facts essential to a valid conviction.

7. A plea of guilty to a void warrant involves no admission of guilt and does not preclude discharge on a writ of habeas corpus.

8. Discharge on such writ of a person prosecuting a writ of error to a judgment refusing him an appeal from the judgment under which he is illegally restrained of his liberty, terminates the limitation period prescribed after during the limitation period prescribed by the policy for commencement of an action thereon, exempting compliance with the condition regarding proofs of loss.

9. On the insurer against loss by fire rests the burden of proving, when averred in defense of an action on the policy, breach of the condition against misrepresentation or concealment by the insured of the true ownership of the property damaged, or that the ownership thereof then was or since has become other than sole and unconditional.

10. Neither an option nor an invalid or conditional contract of sale of personal property by an insured, with reservation of title until payment of the purchase money, although possession is transferred to the vendee, will constitute a breach of the condition of the policy requiring "sole and unconditional ownership."

The judgment of the lower court in the case of Shrewsbury against Coal Land Company, from Boone county, was reversed and the cause was remanded. This case involves large coal lands in which a number of prominent Charleston men are interested.

The largest meteorite known to have fallen to earth weighed 537 pounds.

ates the controversy involved in the writ of error, and it will be dismissed, on such discharge, as then involving only a moot case.

9. A person under conviction of a criminal offense by a justice of the peace is entitled to an appeal within a reasonable time, as a matter of right.

10. Such an appeal should be allowed by the justice who rendered the judgment, if applied for within a reasonable time, and, if he refuses it, application therefor may be made to the circuit court of the county, or the judge thereof in vacation.

11. Refusal of the justice to allow such an appeal is sufficient cause for allowance thereof by such court or judge, and refusal thereof by the latter, under such circumstances, justifies a writ of error from this court to the judgment of refusal.

12. A doubt arising on the evidence as to whether such preliminary application was made to the justice should be resolved in favor of the applicant for the appeal.

Opinion.

Frederick J. Emsweller sentenced by a justice of the peace to imprisonment in the county jail of Monongalia county for a period of sixty days, and further punished by the infliction of a fine of $100 and costs including an attorney's fee of $10, all to be worked out on the public roads, as for a violation of chapter 13 of the acts of the legislature of 1913, known as the Yost law, sought to discharge, in the circuit court of said county on a writ of habeas corpus. To the judgment refusing to discharge him and remanding him, he obtained this writ of error. He was also denied an appeal from the justice's judgment to the circuit court, and obtained a writ of error here to the judgment of that court refusing an appeal. Joseph J. Jenkins, punished at the same time and in like manner and upon the same kind of a charge, also obtained a writ of error to a judgment refusing him an appeal.

The complaint, made by the chief of police of the city of Morgantown and ex-officio a constable of the county, charged that he had cause to believe intoxicating liquors were "being manufactured, sold, offered, exposed, kept or stored for sale or bartered in said county aforesaid, in that certain suit case, trunk or other container in the possession of one F. J. Emsweller in the roads, streets, alleys or room in said county contrary to the laws of the state of West Virginia," and prayed a warrant for seizure of "all liquors found therein, together with all vessels, bar fixtures, screens, glasses, bottles, jugs and other appurtenances apparently used in the sale, keeping or storing of liquors contrary to law," and the arrest of "all parties or persons found in said room or place." The warrant recited the substance of the complaint, and the commanded entry of "that certain room and place in said county aforesaid," and search and seizure of "all liquors found therein, together with all vessels," etc., and the arrest of "all parties or persons found in said room or place."

A "THRILLER" FROM OVER SEA APPEARS

In the Sparks Circus Which Will Show at Highland Park May 4.

The war in Europe has had many and varied effects on all classes of business in this country, and the circus business has been no exception. The most noticeable effect on the circus business has been the effort made by performers in all the war-ridden countries to escape to this country, and this fact has enabled Mr. Sparks, of the Sparks' circus, to secure novelties that under normal conditions would be unavailable at any price. Probably the most sensational "thriller" secured by any of the circuses from Europe this season is the death-defying act performed by Hillary Long. This man has out-done all the loop-the-loop, loop-the-gap and other similar acts ever attempted, owing to the fact that his very life, as well as the successful accomplishment of the act, depend, not on mechanical contrivances, but on his skill and nerve alone.

In this dare-deevil performance Mr. Long attaches a common rolled skate to the crown of his head, then from the top of a hundred foot incline, reaching to the very dote of the mammoth tent, balanced on his head upon the roller skate, he dashes earthward until near the end of his perilous journey the incline makes a slight upward turn, which catapults Mr. Long through space to a distance of thirty feet, where he again lights on his head and finishes this marvelous performance on a shorter strip of incline.

This act is the big outstanding feature of the Sparks' circus that is billed to exhibit here Thursday, May 4.

EXTENDED TO FOUR.

Professor R. M. Fisher, candidate for the legislature, requests the Telegram to announce that Harrison county is entitled to elect four members of the lower branch of the legislature under the recent apportionment.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Stamford, Conn., Nurse Tells How She Found Health.

Stamford, Conn.—"I am a nurse and suffered from a nervous breakdown. I had no appetite and could not sleep at night, and nothing seemed to help me. By chance I heard of Vinol, and after taking the first bottle I noticed an improvement, and four bottles made me well and strong, it gave me a hearty appetite, so I can sleep soundly night or day. I consider Vinol a wonderful tonic." Edith R. Forbes, Stamford, Conn.

The reason Vinol is so successful in overcoming such conditions is because it is a constitutional remedy and goes to the seat of the trouble. It is the greatest strength creator we know—due to the extractive medicinal elements of fresh cod livers without oil, combined with peptonate of iron and beef peptonate, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine. We have seen so many wonderful recoveries like this right here in Clarksville caused by Vinol, that we feel perfectly safe in offering to return money in every such case where Vinol fails to benefit—Stone and Mercer, Druggists, Clarksville, W. Va.—Advertisement.

HUMAN SOCIETY

Is Badly Needed in Community and Local Writer Wants to Form One.

(Communicated.)

The arrest of Andrew Miller recently for cruelty to a horse should serve as a reminder to the people of this city that we are badly in need of a humane society. There are many other instances of inhuman treatment of dumb animals. In fact, every day we see horses pulling heavy loads that are hardly able to walk on account of swollen feet and sores. The hot summer is now coming on and the suffering will be greatly intensified.

Worked in heavy harness all day, shut in badly ventilated stables at night and tortured by flies, what rest does the poor "beast of burden" have? We boast of our progressive little city, our charitable organizations, our board of trade, etc. We are proud of the work they are all doing, but is there anything that would reflect more credit upon our city than a good humane society for the protection of our poor, abused dumb animals?
